

INTERNET SOCIETY COPYRIGHT ASSIGNMENT FORM

Instructions:

1. Fill in section I.
2. Sign section II(A) unless one of the following situations applies to you:
 - You wrote the paper within the scope of your employment with the U.S. Government: sign section II(B). (If you wrote the paper under U.S. Government contract or grant, and not as an employee of the U.S. Government, sign section II(A) instead of section II(B).)
 - You wrote the paper under British Government (or Commonwealth) employment, contract, or grant: sign section II(C).
3. If the paper has more than one author, any one author who is not a government employee must sign section II(A). Sign section II(B) or II(C) only if you and ALL of your co-authors are employees of the governments of the United States or the United Kingdom, respectively.
4. Make a copy of the completed form for your files.

II. COPYRIGHT ASSIGNMENT

A. General

1. Assignment. The undersigned hereby assigns all copyright rights in and to the above paper to the Internet Society (ISOC).

2. Representations and warranties. The undersigned represents and warrants that:

- a. the paper is original and not previously published elsewhere;
 - b. the undersigned is the author of the paper, except for any material such as text passages, figures, and data that clearly identify the original source, with permission notices from the copyright owners where required;
 - c. he/she has the power and authority to make and execute this assignment;
- NOTE: if you prepared your paper as part of your job, the rights to your paper rest initially with your employer. In that case, when you sign below, you warrant that you are authorized to do so by your employer and that your employer has consented to all the terms and conditions of this form. If not, then the form should be signed by someone so authorized.
- d. the paper does not violate any rights of any third party; and

e. if the paper has more than one author, the author signing on behalf of any of the other authors has the power and authority to do so.

The undersigned agrees to indemnify and hold ISOC harmless against any and all liability resulting from a breach of the above representations and warranties.

3. Proprietary Rights. Author (or his/her employer if applicable) retains all proprietary rights in any process, procedure, or article of manufacture described in the paper.

4. Reproduction and Dissemination. As copyright owner, ISOC has the right to reproduce or authorize the reproduction of the paper, and to publish and disseminate the paper in printed and digital form. It is ISOC policy to make a reasonable effort to act in the interests of the authors and employers as well as in its own interest. In handling third party reprint/republication requests for an ISOC paper, ISOC requires the third party to obtain: (1) the consent of the first-named author (for republication of a full paper); and (2) the consent of the employer, if appropriate (to re-use all or portions of a paper for promotion or marketing purposes).

5. Audiovisual Presentation: The author also gives ISOC permission to use, reproduce or publish in printed or digital form any audiovisual presentation (including but not limited to PowerPoint presentations, Keynote presentations, PDF presentations) delivered in conjunction with the author's oral presentation of the paper at ISOC events.

6. Licenses. ISOC grants a nonexclusive, worldwide, and royalty-free license to Author (or his employer if applicable) to reproduce or authorize others to reproduce the above paper, material extracted verbatim from the above paper, or derivative work for the Author's personal use (or for the employer's use if applicable) provided that the source and the ISOC copyright notice are indicated, that the copies are not used in any way that implies ISOC endorsement of any product or service, and that the copies themselves are not offered or available for commercial use.

7. Permission. For all circumstances not covered by the preceding paragraph, authors/employers must request prior written permission from ISOC to reproduce or authorize the reproduction of all or portions of the paper, including figures and tables.

8. U.S. Government contract or grant. In the case of work performed under a U.S. Government contract or grant, ISOC recognizes that the U.S. Government has royalty-free permission to reproduce all or portions of the work, and to authorize others to do so, for official U.S. Government purposes only, if the contract/grant so requires. If this work was performed under a U.S. Government contract or grant, please provide the contract or grant number:

U.S. Government contract or grant number

9. Nullification. In the event the above paper is not accepted and published by ISOC or is withdrawn by the Author before acceptance by ISOC, this assignment becomes null and void.
